...because all blood is red

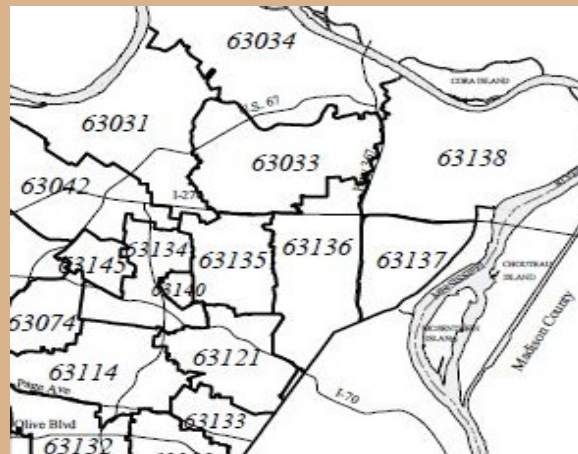

He said, “Don’t get me wrong. I’m really proud of you. I know that in this place they use to call us slaves. In this place, they called us 3/5 of a man. In the same place, they call us chattel. So, I’m really proud that they now gonna call you a congressman. But the thing that made me cry, was that, realizing I was deprived of an education, I now realize what I could have been.”

economic development through a racial equity lens

A collaborative, community-based nonprofit organization for north St. Louis County

About A Red Circle

North St. Louis County's ("North County") economy can be traced to racist laws and public policies and disinvestment.

A Red Circle's vision is to restore North County to a safe, vibrant, sustainable, and economically viable community that remains diverse, and in doing so, help heal the racial strife.

Located in The Promise Zone, A Red Circle's programming is designed to address five focus areas:

Employment

Education

Holistic Living

Policy

Arts

Programs

Stl Mutual Aid—North County Pod
Education Justice & Support
Virtual Parent Cafes & Tutoring
Healthy Community Market
Voter Engagement & Empowerment
Kwanzaa and Art in the Garden (NEW) Transitioning Well (at St. Vincent Home for Children)

Sites

North County Agricultural Education Center
